

LAWYER'S SPIRIT ADVISED PSYCHIC

Fenner Said He Was Guided By Shade of Furman Sheppard

TRUSTED IT IMPLICITLY

So Asserts Mrs. Wilde, Who Sues to Recover $1000 Invested in Gold Mine

The mysterious "Mr. Sheppard, of Philadelphia," whose spirit aided the "Rev." Samuel C. Fenner, pastor of the "Psychic Temple," 1710 North Broad street, in exploration for gold nuggets in the hills of Montgomery County, Md., it developed today was Furman Sheppard, once a District Attorney of this city and a leading Democrat of Pennsylvania. Mr. Sheppard, in whose office the "Rev." Mr. Fenner was a law clerk before he took up the philosophy of psychic teachings, died years ago.

Aside from being a member of one of Fenner's "exploring trips"—that is, while the latter was in a state of coma—the spirit of the late Mr. Sheppard, according to Mrs. Ida C. Wilde, 316 North Thirty-eighth street, aided Fenner to draw diagrams of the interior of mines of the Great Falls Gold Mining Company, located somewhere in the town of Cropley, Montgomery County, Md. On one occasion Mr. Sheppard's spirit helped the "Rev." Mr. Fenner to pen a picture of the "pockets" of the mine. All this was in 1914. It was about that time that Mrs. Wilde and her husband, William E. Wilde, invested $1000 in the mine.

Fenner, Mrs. Wilde declares, told her that he had implicit faith in everything that was told to him by Mr. Sheppard's spirit. Therefore, he urged upon her to maintain the same confidence in Mr. Sheppard's spirit. To convince her, Mrs. Wilde says that Fenner presented her with a map which he told her described in a graphic manner just where gold would be found.

Mrs. Wilde's husband has brought suit against Fenner to recover the $1000 which he invested in the Great Falls Gold Mining Company. Other defendants in the suit are Stanley Francis, who served two years in prison for his part in the Storey Cotton windle, and who is described by Fenner as "a man who is just like a broken branch"; Mrs. Emily H. Fenner, wife of the "Rev." Mr. Fenner; and William E. Kyle, who today is in parts unknown.

POSTAL INSPECTORS AT WORK

Chief Postal Inspector James T. Cortelyou is now endeavoring to find out whether Fenner used the mails in connection with his gold-mine projects. Besides having one-eighth interest in the Great Falls Gold Mining Company, he is the secretary and treasurer of the Empress Gold Mining Company, incorporated under the laws of Arizona, and whose general offices are in the parlor of the Fenner home, 1933 North Park avenue. This same parlor is frequently used for psychic seances. Mr. Cortelyou has assigned an inspector to check up the activities of Fenner's projects.

The Great Falls Gold Mining Company's "mine" is located a stone's throw from the Capital Gold Mining Company, whose offices were closed in this city many years ago. The Capital company flooded the homes of textile workers in Remington years ago with circulars which read as follows:

"What's the use of going all the way West for your gold when you have it right here in the East, at the gate of the national capital?"

MRS. FENNER DENIES SPIRIT AID

Mrs. Fenner denies the story related by Mrs. Wilde that spirits were factors in the sale of stock to Mr. Wilde. Mrs. Fenner by the way, is the president of the Empress Gold Mining Company, and when not busy with the affairs of that concern in her parlor, she assists her husband at the psychic sessions at the "Psychic Temple."

"Everything that Mrs. Wilde has said is a falsehood," declared Mrs. Fenner over the telephone. "Why make such a fuss by injecting spirits into this dreadful affair? I only hope the newspapers won't publish this affair very long."

"What are your objections?" she was asked.

"Oh, they are so distasteful—it means further gossip," replied Mrs. Fenner, "and you know I may lose my respect for the newspapers which publish anything about myself and husband."

Asked whether it was true that her husband called into consultation the spirit of the late Mr. Sheppard before stock was sold to Mr. Wilde, Mrs. Fenner replied:

"There may have been some messages from Mr. Sheppard's spirit; that is nothing unusual. Questions are always asked of spirits of loved ones who have gone away from this earth. If questions were transmitted to Mr. Sheppard's spirit it would be unethical for me to make that fact public."

But, nevertheless, Mrs. Wilde insists that Fenner told her and her husband that he had received messages from Mr. Sheppard's spirit that there was an opportunity to become enriched through an investment in the Great Falls concern.

Fenner's defense is that he didn't sell the stock to Wilde. He says the stock was sold by Kyle, who is described by Mrs. Wilde as a "runner" for Fenner. However, Fenner admits that he retained the money, which he later banked in the name of a concern which is now interested in patents and of which Stanley Francis, of Storey Cotton fame, is the manager. The office of this concern, known as the Aerovibric Company, is in the Francis Building, Sansom street near Fourth.

James Greig, head of the Penn Smelting and Refining Works, at 906 Filbert street, and a former officer of the Capital Gold Mining Company, who is acquainted with Fenner, said today that he had some business dealings with Fenner many years ago. According to Greig, he sold an option on the Maryland mine located in Montgomery County, to a "circle of gentlemen," as he expressed it. Among those in that "circle" was Fenner. Greig says that up to this time he hasn't received any payment for his option. He declares that everybody in

BEAT MAN FOR INSULTING DAUGHTER, WOMAN SAYS

Assault Under Bail, Accused of Causing Victim's Insanity and Blindness

Accused of attacking George Stewart, thirty-five years old, of 217 South Forty-fifth street, an employe of the United Gas Improvement Company, with an iron stove lid lifter and an umbrella and inflicting injuries that caused him to become insane and to lose his eyesight, Mrs. Katherine Meehan, forty-five years old, of 804 Magnolia avenue, Germantown, was today held under $500 bail for court by Magistrate Pennock.

According to the testimony of Mrs. Meehan, on December 19, she attacked Stewart because he had insulted her sixteen-year-old daughter, Margaret, when he and William Deit, of 3544 New Queen street, employe of the gas company, came to her home to repair the gas meter. She was away at the time of the alleged insult and made the attack when the men returned the following day.

Stewart, who is married and has several children, was taken to the Germantown Hospital unconscious, in which condition he remained for several weeks, and had the right eye taken to Seaford, Del., by his wife, who is now under treatment, insane and blind, according to Special Officer Corry, of the Germantown police station, who has been investigating the case. Stewart alleges that his condition was caused by a fall in front of her home and not by blows inflicted by her.

The loss is placed at $1000.

SUGAR STRIKERS AGREE TO MEET EMPLOYERS

State and National Mediators Also to Attend Conference. End of Walkout Near

Both the State and National Governments continued their efforts today to bring about a settlement of the strike of 26000 sugar workers here, which has closed two refineries in this city and curtailed the output of a third plant.

John Price Jackson, chief of the Department of Labor and Industry at Harrisburg, came to Philadelphia today to join his efforts with those of Clifton Reese, of the Department of Labor at Washington. Mr. Jackson is attended by James A. Stease, his chief clerk and personal representative.

"We have been in conference with the strikers," said Mr. Stease today, "and they have virtually agreed to a conference with the employers. This conference may be held tomorrow in the office of George H. Frazier, president of the Franklin Sugar Refinery. I have no doubt that we will be able to bring about a settlement of the strike and end the present sugar famine."

Arthur W. Howe, Jr., of the Grocers' Supply Company, the largest distributor of sugar outside of the refineries, said today:

"The strike was brought about by a number of the highest-paid laborers, who determined to obtain still higher pay at the cost of the consumers. Sugar was already costing, because of labor and other factors, an abnormal price, and had the refineries yielded, the cost of living would have been advanced. We are getting some sugar from the refineries, and today it looks as though the supply would soon become normal again. The wages paid now by the refineries have proved attractive to men out of work, and they are receiving many applications for employment. We are supplying our regular customers with reasonable amounts of refined sugar."
